

OGP: Promoting Democracy Improving Government Renewing Trust

csidp | 5 November 2018

Open
Government Partnership

The Basics

- + International multi-stakeholder platform
- + Making governments more open, accountable, and responsive to citizens
- + Co-creation by civil society and government

Connecting champions from government and civil society

The whiteboard contains the following handwritten text and diagrams:

- Top left: "Como se relaciona OSC con el sector público?"
- Top right: "Formas de IRM para mejorar planes de acción?"
- Center: "Diagnóstico" with a list of bullet points: "¿Qué actores intervienen?", "¿A qué se dedica a OSC?", "¿Cuál es su misión?"
- Center: "OSC" in large letters.
- Center: "IRM" in a box with "OOP" below it.
- Right side: "¿Qué actores intervienen?" with a list of bullet points: "¿A qué se dedica a OSC?", "¿Cuál es su misión?"
- Bottom right: "¿Qué actores intervienen?" with a list of bullet points: "¿A qué se dedica a OSC?", "¿Cuál es su misión?"

Co-creation: what do we want to see?

- CONSULT during the development of the Action Plan

- Forum exists and meets at least quarterly
- Forum is multi-stakeholder
- Reasoned response: feedback made available

- INFORM during the implementation of the Action Plan

- Online repository and website: timelines, invites, agendas, meeting minutes, submissions, ToRs, etc.

Open Government Partnership

Global Summit • Paris • France 2016

What is the Independent Review Mechanism (IRM)?

Holding OGP governments to account

- + Is formulation, implementation and monitoring of action plan collaborative and open?
- + Are action plans relevant, accountable and verifiable?
- + Are more ambitious actions getting done?

Learning

- + What are we getting right (and wrong)?
- + How can the SU provide effective support?

OGP in numbers

79
COUNTRIES

20
LOCAL

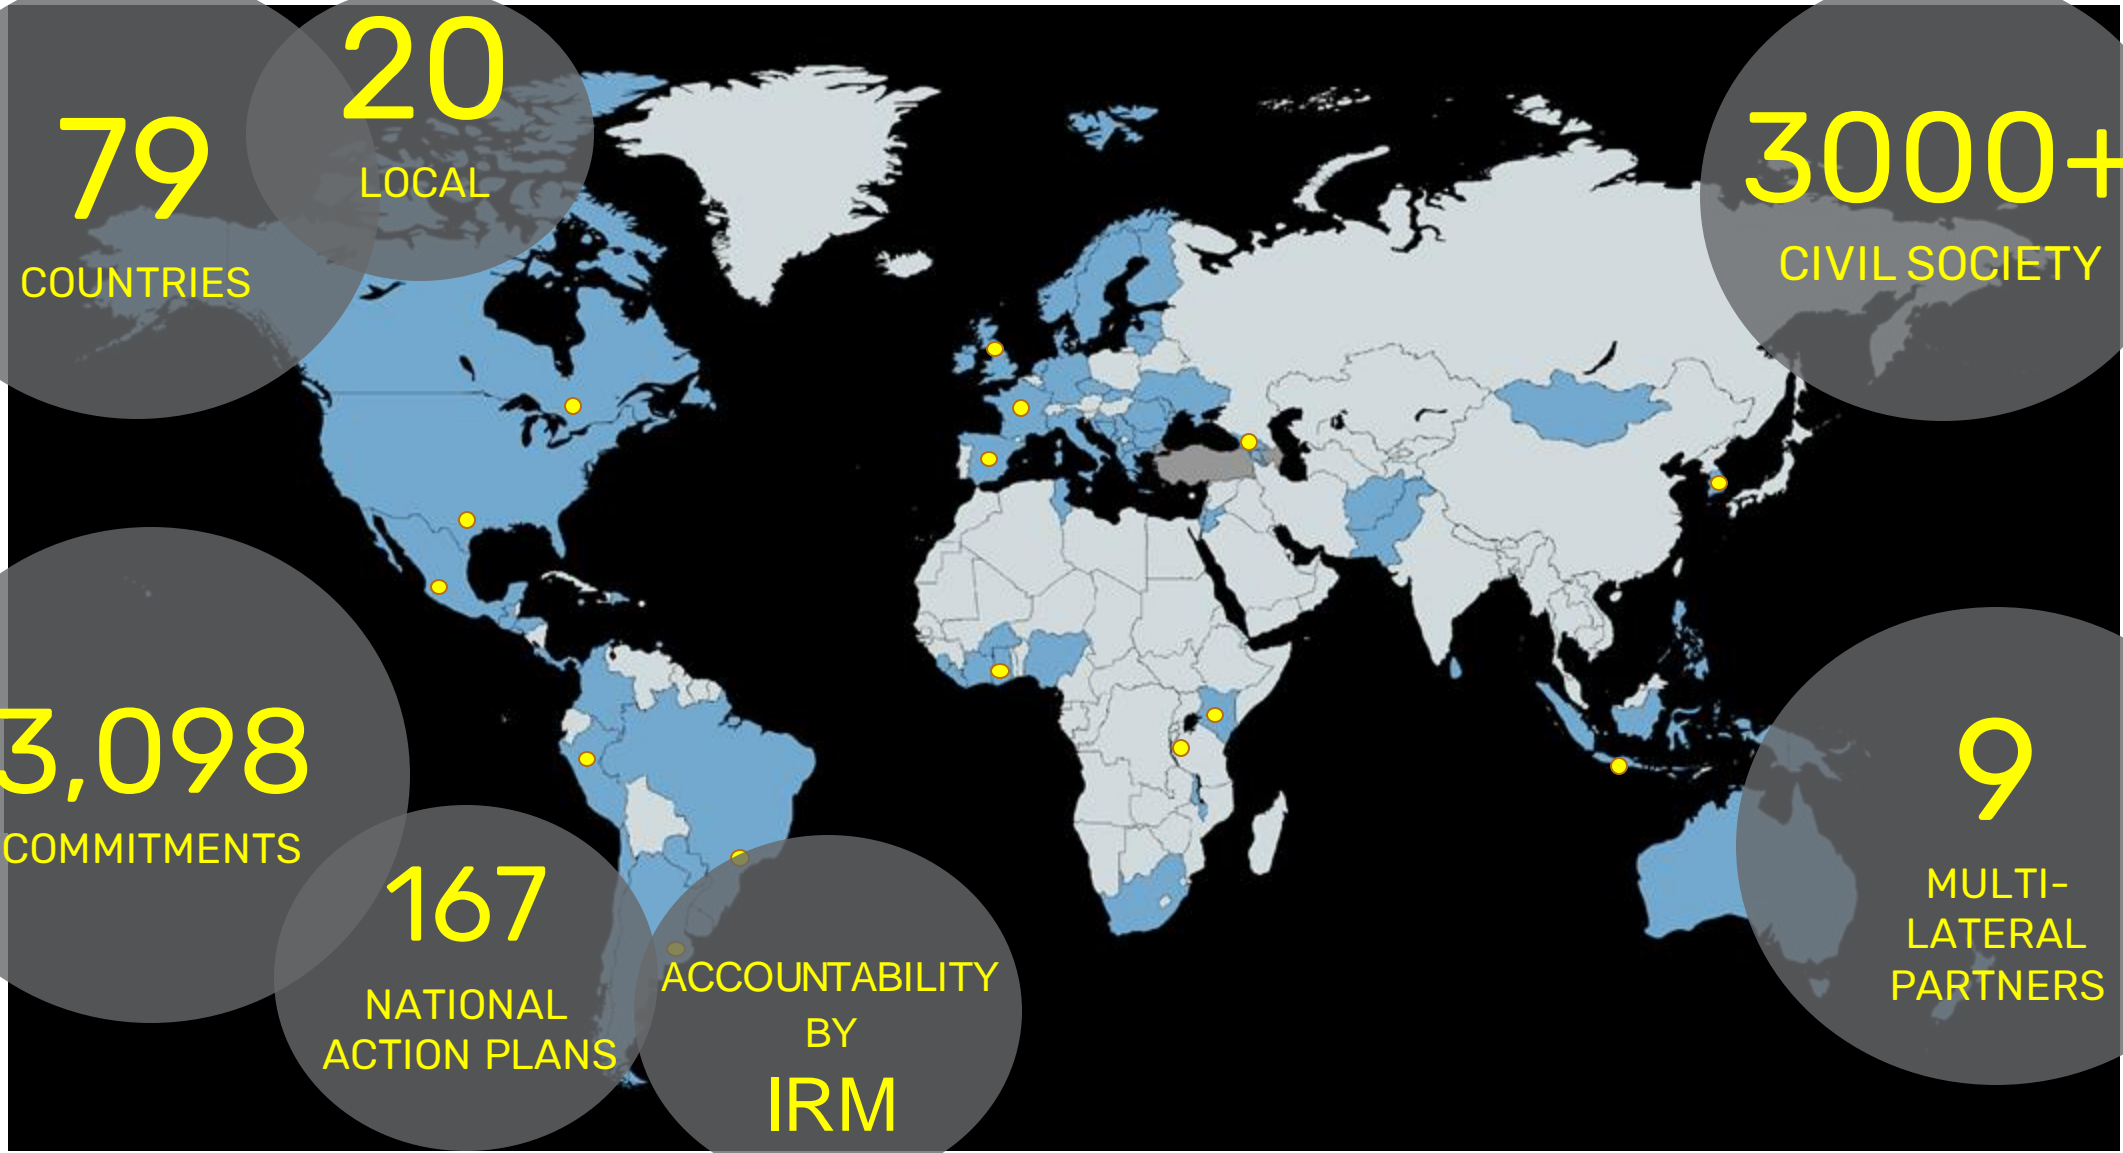

3000+
CIVIL SOCIETY

3,098
COMMITMENTS

167
NATIONAL ACTION PLANS

ACCOUNTABILITY
BY IRM

9
MULTI-LATERAL
PARTNERS

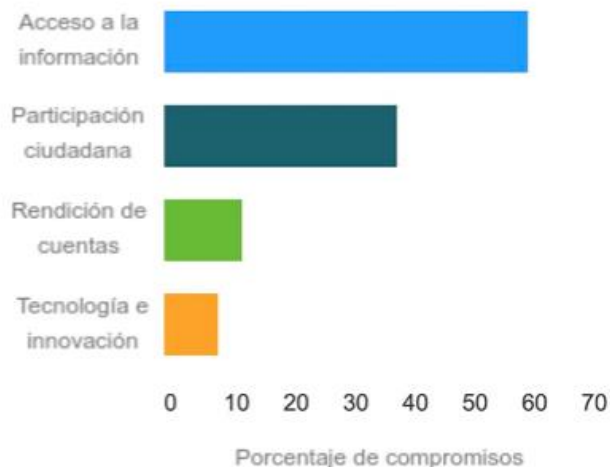

Costa Rica ha avanzado en la institucionalización del proceso de gobierno abierto. El reto a futuro será consolidar iniciativas alineadas con prioridades nacionales como sus políticas medioambientales.

Rendimiento de compromisos

* información de medio término
 datos IRM más recientes

Contenido

- › PrEP in Scotland
 - › What is PrEP?
 - › Scottish reports on PrEP
 - › PrEP FAQs
- › National Involvement Standards (HIV)
- › Anti-stigma strategy
- › Education
- › Primary Care
- › Political Engagement
- › National Involvement Network
- › Your Voice, Your Choice, Your Rights
- › Health and social care
- › Criminal justice
- › Sexual Health and Blood Borne Virus Policy
- › Human Rights and HIV
- › Testing

PrEP in Scotland

PrEP is approved in Scotland

On 10th April Scotland became the first of the UK nations to approve the provision of PrEP by the NHS to prevent HIV.

The Scottish Medicines Consortium (SMC) announced that following their rigorous process the drug Truvada has been deemed an effective treatment to prevent the transmission of HIV and will be made available on the NHS in Scotland.

HIV Scotland has spent years campaigning for PrEP to be available as an extra part of a comprehensive prevention package. In 2016 HIV Scotland published a PrEP good practice guide, and administered Scotland’s expert group which produced prescribing criteria, cost assessments, and mapped information and training needs of workers and the community.”

This outcome was only made possible by the involvement and collaboration of community members, service providers, researchers, and decision makers all coming together to learn and work in partnership. Hundreds of community members across Scotland got in touch with us, attending information events, contributing to consultations and decision making groups, appealing to clinics, and spreading the word.

This as an opportunity to significantly reduce the number of new HIV infections in Scotland. This shows what progress can be made when professionals and the community are able to join together to learn from each other and find solutions.

What’s next?

HIV Scotland will continue to work to ensure the effective roll out of PrEP, and that knowledge and understanding of PrEP is increased in the public and professionals.

Health boards are currently working to finalise the roll out of PrEP in sexual health clinics. Each health board has their own policy on PrEP implementation, and will be making PrEP available in clinics by July 2017, though this may vary a bit across each NHS health board area. If you’re interested in taking PrEP or are unsure, check out the frequently asked questions here.

Introducing CitizENGAGE - How Citizens Get Things Done

EXPLORE THE CONTENT